Washington, Nov. 14.—Football has claimed another victim in Archer Christian, the 18 year-old halfback of Christian, the 18-year-old halfback of the University of Virginia team, whose injury in the game with Georgetown university yesterday was followed by his death at Georgetown university hospital this morning. The body was taken to Richmond today for burial.

An autopsy disclosed that death was due to cerebral hemorrhage following concursion.

District of Columbia Takes Action. the District of Columbia coroner has sworn a special jury of prominent cit-izens whose duty it will be to suggest, if possible, some modification of the rougher features of the game, and to look into the question of alleged police brutality and indifference after the ac-cident.

It was said today that Mrs. Christian was always fearful regarding the fate of her son, having had a premitton that he would be injured. Though in Washington, she did not go to yesterday's game, but immediately after it was over she telephoned to the hospital to ascertain whether her boy had been injured and the news was conveyed to her.

Christian's Body Taken to His Home. Death came to the injured man peacefully. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Christian, and his brother, a'-so a football player, were with him when the end came.

Sincere sympathy is manifested for them and this morning in the university chapel tife entire undergraduate body knelt and prayed for the repose of the soul of young Christian.

Accompanying the body to Richmond, besides the relatives, were a number of students of the university who came to Washington to witness the game, Capt. Thomas Stuart of the Georgetown team and Rev. John J Carlin, president of the Georgetown athletic association. The football team of Georgetown is making arrangements to attend the funeral.

Two Bombs Thrown at Carriage of Viceroy of India. Ahmedabad, British India, Nov. 14.— Lord Minto, the viceroy of India, and Lady Minto had a narrow escape yes-terday from being killed by bombs. They were driving through one of the streets when, without warning, two bombs were thrown at their carriage.

A dragoon who was riding alongside spurred forward and with outstretched sabre intercepted the first homb, hurling it some little distance away in a sand heap. The second bomb struck the viceroy's jemidar, a native lleutenant, who was holding an umbrella over Lady Minto, and fell harmlessly to the ground. Neither bomb exploded, as the soft sand acted as a buffer. On examination they were found to contain picric acid. Just prior to this, as the carriage passed through one of the streets, a bomb exploded some little distance away. Police and others, attracted by the explosion, ran up and found a man on the ground with his hand blown off. He proved to be an innocent bystander. Mr. Mitchell declared that organized labor in its fight for better conditions for the wage carners, is doing more to promote temperance than any other organization and he refuted the contention that shorter hours of labor and increased wages result in added profits to the saloon.

Mr. Lennon said the liquor business lowers the standard of efficiency of

The force of the collision brought the Onda almost to a dead stop, and her engines were at once slowed down and her boats lowered. The rescue work proved thrilling for not only were the rescuing parties impeded by the dark, but shoals of sharks were already attacking those clinging to parts of the wreckage. Sixty-one persons from the ill-fated steamer were finally dragged into the boats and brought by the Onda to this pert. Many of them had been bitten by sharks and several are severely injured.

"We got to the base of the second vein," said Inspector Taylor on reach-ing the surface, "and though we could see little, we found no excessive temsee little, we found no excessive temperature. It was apparent that the fire had not penetrated deeply into the mine. We could see no sign of flames. If the temperature throughout the second vein is no more excessive than there, then in the deeper and farther recesses of the mine it is probable that there may be oxygen enough to keep the men alive. We saw no trace of men, either dead or alive. Tomorrow I think we can proceed further into the mine with safety."

Late tonight after a conference of the mine inspectors, company officers and experts, it was decided to open the main shaft in the morning and to send the explorers into the mine in the regular cage.

It was determined to seal up the airshaft tonight. The experts believe that conditions will be safe for them to walk around in the veins before

CORONER'S INQUEST. Engineer's Obedience of Orders May Have Caused Death of Rescuing

Party Saturday. Cherry, Iil., Uov. 14.—Implicit obe-dience by Engineer John Cowley to orders of his superior may have caused the death of the rescuing party which went down into the St. Paul mine yes-

At the coroner's inquest, which be-gan today, Cowley, who is an engineer of the main shaft testified that he de-

Refused to Hoist the Cage. the engineer by the usual means, Mar-tin Powers, Dr. Howe and Herbert Lewis, the last named a brother of one of the rescue party, rushed to Cowley, so the engineer testified. They demanded that the cage be raised immediately.

Cowley refused acting under orders from Nosberg, the witness told the coroner's jury. For a space of time, which Cowley declares was perhaps ten minutes, he would not listen to their frantic appeals, but finally he referred the matter to John Quinby of the top case. Quinby besitated, and as Machinist John Chadester entered. Cowley asked Chadester what should be done

All Dead or Dying When Cage Reach-

"Go ahead and raise it." answered Chadester, according to Cowley's testimony, "nobody is afive down there."
Cowley then brought the cage to the top, but every one of the men in the rescue party was either dead or dying when they reached the top.
Cowley defended himself on the stand by saying he had received Nosberg's order to await the bell signal before moving the cage, and that the three men who demanded that the cage be raised had no authority to tell what to do.

According to Cowley, he feared in raising the cage he would risk injuring some of the men below, or that he might leave them without means of escape should he lift the cage while they were, not in it.

SAFE BURGLARS GET

AWAY WITH $4,000 IN CASH Brilliant Lights Directly Over the Safe Four Feet from Window.

New York, Nov. 14.—Within range of the brilliant lights of Broadway, expert cracksmen blew open the safe of a shoe company's store some time early today and got away with $1,000 in cash. The robbery was not discovered until many hours later.

In the store itself the lights were all on, one brilliant cluster directly over the safe, which was within four feet of the street window. Nitroglycerine is supposed to have been used, with burlap to deaden the neigh. The police have no clus.
